

Dear valued patient,

As the coronavirus spans the globe, we are reminded of how fragile life is, and how one change can greatly impact us all.

I am reaching out today to let you know that the office is still open, and I am still available via telemedicine for your traditional medical concerns. As a benefit of your membership, we are performing medical visits and discussion via phone, email, skype and the WhatsApp secure texting phone App. As a member of my practice, these methods of contact have always been available to you, and they will continue to be, as the climate of restriction imposed by the virus develops.

We are currently seeing patients in our office face-to-face on a very limited basis. This is based on the recommendations of the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and World Health Organization (WHO), as well as multiple other medical groups on the national and local levels, to limit exposure and minimize disease spread.

I am elated you trust me with the care of your family during this difficult time, and glad we are setup to continue to provide your family excellent care remotely, via a means that will help keep them safe. I am committed to do all that I can to protect the health of your family and keep you well.

Please reach out if you need us. I am here for you.

Be safe and well,
